

Donna's Story of Hope

It was a few months ago when I walked into Bible study on Monday night. I poured out my heart about my struggles and hardship. I was from Pennsylvania, had just moved here, and felt all alone. I was immediately embraced by three women who hugged me and prayed with me. Pastor Luther told me that I now had family here and that from this day forward, I wouldn't have to worry about anything. I felt a little crack of sunlight gleaming into a place in my heart that had been so dark for so long. I had finally found a church that was doing what they preached. I wanted to be a part of this. From that day forward, God has used Bridge of Hope to keep their word to me. They have been "real." I feel more and more of the light of God coming into my life and I am beginning to reach out to others with the same love that God has shown to me. I feel myself changing all of the time to be more like Christ. I am becoming a better woman of God and mother. I have confidence now because I know what God says about me and am learning so much through the teaching here. God has saved my life and today I take a stand to live for Him and reach out with His compassion to others.
